

A Clarity Health Reimbursement Arrangement (HRA) gives you and your family a way to save, manage and spend employer-provided healthcare funds. The Clarity HRA is built to be flexible - the dollar amount and payment schedule are customized to your plan. And you are able to manage health care expenses and save money by paying for different types of out-of-pocket expenses (deductibles, copays, etc.).

WE MAKE IT EASY FOR YOU TO BENEFIT

Depending on the options you choose for your HRA plan, we make it convenient for you to use and access your HRA.

CLARITY BENEFIT CARD

Participants pay providers for qualifying healthcare expenses with a simple swipe of a card. If your card is for prescriptions only, you can use it at the pharmacy.

CLARITY BENEFIT SOLUTIONS PORTAL

Participants can submit claims, view their account balance and transactions, see alerts and messages, and enroll in direct deposit. They can also download the Clarity mobile app to access their account on their mobile device.

CLARITY BENEFITCONNECT

Enroll to track deductible spend, substantiate card transactions, or automatically reimburse eligible expenses.

DESIGNED FOR YOU

Clarity will work closely with you to determine the plan design that works best such as split copay HRAs. Then throughout the plan year, we provide online tools to monitor the effectiveness of the program.

TYPES OF HRA PLANS AVAILABLE

Plan Type	Description	What Is Covered	Carded Plan
Integrated HRA (HRA)	Most common HRA that is integrated with a traditional health insurance plan.	Can be designed to cover deductibles, coinsurance, copays, uninsured medical expenses or specific expenses like pharmacy only.	Yes, for RX only or all eligible expenses.
Example: Pays $1,500/$3,000 depending upon coverage level towards employee's medical deductible. Employee pays any expenses thereafter.
Cost Sharing HRA - employee pays first (HRA)	Designed for the business and employee to share in the cost of benefits.	Can be designed to cover all expenses covered by integrated HRA, but the first portion of the deductible is paid by the employee. Can be paired with an HSA, if initial employee out of pocket responsibility >= IRS minimum deductible.	Yes. Will not work during first phase of deductible.
Example: Employee has a total deductible of $5,000/$10,000. Employer sponsors HRA, but decides to cost share. The plan pays $2,500, after employee pays the first $2,500/$5,000.
Cost Sharing HRA - % based payout (HRA)	Designed for the business and employee to share in the cost of benefits.	Can be designed to cover all of the expenses covered by an Integrated HRA, but includes a portion of the coverage to be paid by the employee to share the cost.	Yes, for Rx only. Claims paid via BenefitConnect or manually.
Example: Employer sponsors HRA plan that pays 70% of deductible up to $3,000/$6,000. Employee pays 30% on each claim/card swipe until they reach maximum payout.
Cost-sharing HRA - Donut plan (HRA)	Designed for the business and employee to share in the cost of benefits.	Can be designed to cover all expenses covered by an Integrated HRA, but a portion of the coverage must be paid by the employee. Employees must substantiate their portion of cost-share has been met prior to card activation.	Yes, for eligible expenses after employee meets cost-share.
Example: Employer sponsors HRA plan that pays part of the deductible up to $3,000/$6,000. Employee cost is located in the middle of the payout. Employer pays first $1,500/$3,000, employee pays $1,500/$3,000, then HRA pays $1,500/$3,000.
Cost Sharing HRA - split co-pay (HRA)	Designed for the business and employee to share in the cost of benefits.	Can be designed to cover all of the expenses covered by an Integrated HRA, but includes a portion of the coverage to be paid by the employee to share the cost.	Yes, only for co-pay cap.
Example: Employer sponsors an HRA plan pays $20 of every $30 copay. Card can be swiped for the $20 copay cap.

Plan Type	Description	What Is Covered	Carded Plan
Embedded HRA (HRA/DTR)	Pays based on individual meeting certain portion of deductible. Only pays out for that individual. Once two/more family members meet their portion, it pays out for the family.	Deductibles and/or coinsurance (in and out).	No. Claims paid via BenefitConnect or manually.
Example: Employee has total deductible of $3,000/$6,000. Employer sponsors HRA, but cost shares. Plan pays total of $1,500/$3,000, only after each family member meets $500. When that happens, HRA pays out for that member only. If family aggregates $1,000 out-of-pocket, it pays out for entire family.
Dental Vision HRA (HRADV)	Covers non-cosmetic dental and vision.	Dental and vision only, nothing cosmetic. Includes, but not limited to, dental/eye exams, cleanings, procedures, glasses, contacts, etc. HSA compatible.	Yes, for all eligible expenses.
Executive HRA (MRA)	For shareholders and owners only. Must be reported as taxable income on the W-2s.	Typically no substantiation requirements and covers all 213(d) expenses.	Yes, for all eligible expenses.
Qualified Small Business HRA (QSEHRA)	Employers (<50 full-time employees) can set aside fixed tax-free amount monthly for employees to cover individual health insurance or medical expenses. Cannot offer employer-sponsored group health plan.	The maximum dollar amounts for employer contributions are adjusted each year. Employers must stay within the maximum statutory limits to make sure the plan is qualified. Covers Individual Health Insurance costs (premiums) and related medical expenses (all 213(d)).	Yes, for all eligible expenses.
Individual Coverage HRA (ICHRA)	Employees must have individual health insurance coverage to qualify and cannot be eligible for employer-sponsored plan. No reimbursement limits. Groups >50 employees must offer "affordable" reimbursement amounts.	No limits to coverage amount-at employer's discretion. Covers Individual Health Insurance costs (including premiums) and related medical expenses (all 213(d)).	Yes, for all eligible expenses.
Excepted Benefit HRA (EBHRA)	Available to employees covered by the employer's group health insurance. Employees can participate even if they decline group plan coverage. Benefits up to IRS limit.	Insurance premiums only.	Yes. Based on card being accepted by certain vendors.
